About chembid's Marketplaces Report

As the world's largest metasearch engine and market intelligence platform for the chemical business chembid used its knowledge to provide the second issue of the chembid Marketplaces Report. This report is a comprehensive directory for digital marketplaces where chemicals are traded. It provides insights into the world of digital marketplaces.

Using standardized criteria, the report enables to compare different digital purchasing platforms from around the world. It includes marketplaces specialized in chemicals as well as cross-industry marketplaces from all over the world.

Therefore, you can use it as a decision-making basis for planning your online purchase or sales.

Methodology

chembid's Marketplaces Report 2021 is based on a survey conducted by chembid in 2020, with data collection and processing taking place from August to November 2020. For this purpose, the chembid search engine as well as other web search engines were used.

61 marketplaces made it into the report, as selection criteria were previously defined as follows:

- › Focus on platforms offering chemicals like marketplaces or e-auction platforms, excluding webshops or business directories
- › The following platforms have not been considered: generalistic marketplaces with only a small number of chemical products, closed marketplaces showing no/little freely accessible information, platforms that are not available in German or English.

Characteristics per marketplace

Characteristic	Description

Digital solutions for real-life coatings.

Visionaries have no rivals.

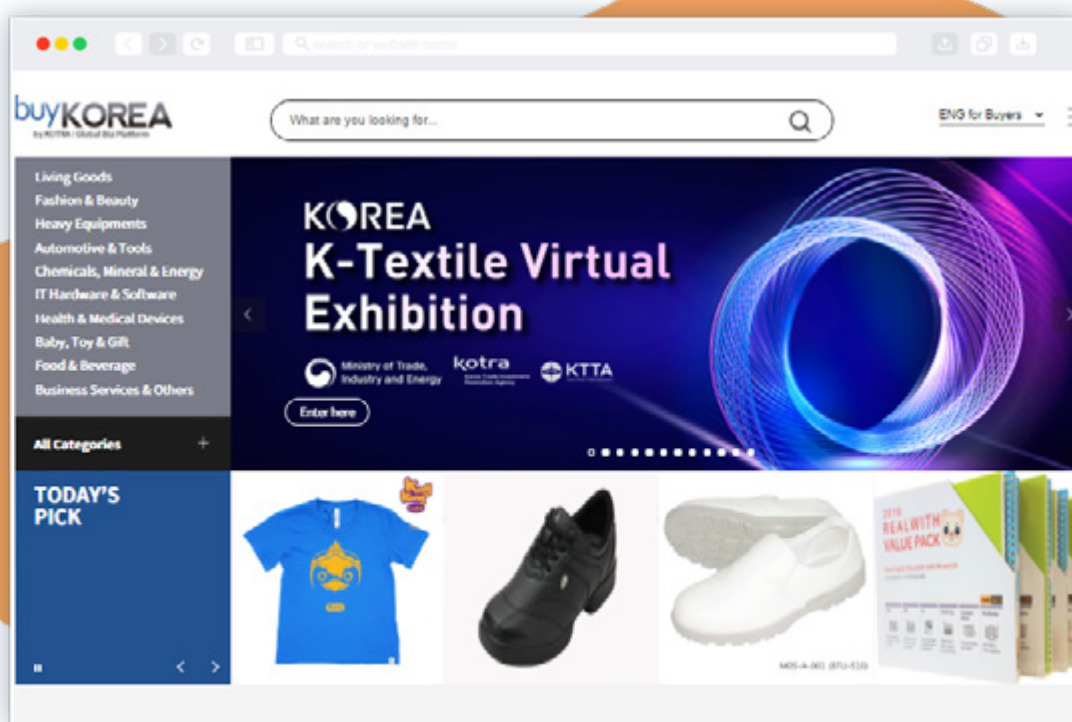

You can't digitalize paints and coatings...

but you can digitalize nearly everything else that leads to their formulation: the evaluation of best fitting additives, the calculation of suitable formulations, or the selection of raw materials. Even the testing of the final coating can be done partially in a virtual environment. Evonik Coating Additives offers digital solutions for all aspects of your daily formulation work.
